The whilers are fast leaving our port, but ew of them being now in. The harbor will soon to will a compare and form a produce, chiefly all, resume its would appearance, the quiet being bro ken only by the arrival of the mail steamer or an occasional sailing vessel from foreign parts.

We are indebted to Mr. T. G. Thrum, for a copy of the Hawaiist Almanac for 1876, published by him. We have, as yet, had time only to glance have Marin limited solled perfectly for Pertland with a over the table of contents, which shows it to contain a larger variety of topics than last years' issue, and the number of pages has been increased to 64. We shall refer to it again.

SURCIDE -At Makawao, on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 28, a native by the name of Keals, bung him self to the branch of a Kukul tree, with a pockethandkerchief. He was discovered by a native woman, who rescued him from his position, but life was so nearly extinct that he died on Tuesday. Dr. Moffit was called in but could do nothing for him.

Steamer Vasco de Gama, Capt. Rice, is fully ne from Sydney, en route for San Francisco. The following is a partial list of passengers to go forward from this port per steamer: Mrs. C. T. Mills. Selection Opera, Girofle Girofla—Lecceq.
Artist Quadrille, new—Stranss. SHIP SALE .- The American ship Emerald, which was set on fire and partially burned last summer. was sold at suction on Saturday last, by Mr. Bartow. The hull, musts, spars, sails and standing rigging, sold for $7,500, and some extra stuff realized $1000 It is understood that she has been purchased for Mesars. Pope a Talbot, and will be fitted for the lumber trade. This will involve a large outlay, but with the facilities possessed by this firm at their mills in Paget Sound, the ship can be rendered strong and adapted for the service intended.

PERSONAL -Our readers may remember George P. Lathrop, son of Dr. Lathrop, who resided here during the fifties. Mr. George P. married a daughter of Hawthorne, and is now editor of the Atlantic monthly. He has already, though not overtwenty. three years of age, earned a reputation as a poet and his first volume of poems will be published during the present winter. He, like Annie Montague, first saw the light of day on Hawalian soil, and Hawallans are all interested in his and ber literary lame; and should they ever re-visit the scenes Lanon Saving .- It will interest the ladies or such that an improvement has been introduced in the mode of spattering the ink on the cloth or paper, in spatter-work. This is done by means of a springe, and the per term of grandstene. It was another than a proper wise. It was another than a proper wise. It was a barbers use for sprinkling cologue in their possorial art. But instead of cologne, inks of various colors, black, blue, red, violet or green, are used, according to the taste of the artist. These syrings can be obtained at Dillingbam & Co's., while consorial art. But instead of cologne, inks of various colors, black, blue, red, violet or green, are ringes can be obtained at Dillingbam & Co's., while the inks may be procured at any stationers. With these simple implements, very handsome "spatter, work" can be executed in a few minutes, which un der the old process occupied as many hours. A sample of the work may be seen in our store window, done by Mr. A. Young, who has first succeeded in applying the syringe to fancy work of this kind.

BURGLARY .- The residence of Mr M. B. Beckwith-In Nuusnu Avenue, was entered on Sanday last while the family were at church. The thief rum maged through the drawers and trunks, and succeeded in finding $8.25 belonging to some charitable institution, and decamped with the coin. The cook of one of the neighbors observed a native boy leaving the bonse during Sunday forenoon, but nothing occurred to excite his suspicion of theft. If the thief should be found and brought before Judge Jones, we think he would not get off so lightly as did a boy who was brought up before the police magistrate some years ago for stealing copper on Sunday. The kind-hearted judge heard the evidence, which was clear and conclusi ve, and when he came to give a decision, said that the lad was too young to go to work in the chain-gang where he deserved to be. So he gave him a bit of advice, "My boy, its wrong to steal, but to steal on Sunday is very wrong. Now go home, and don't be caught stealing again, particularly on Sun-

MISS ANNIS MONTAGUE. - In the Boston Globe we MISS ANNIS MONTAGUE.—In the Boston Globe we first appearance of the young lady, which occurred on the evening of Oct. 36: "The part of the Queen was taken by Miss arms and about 27. Boston on the occasion. When she began she seemed a triffe bewildered, and her voice was rather weak. As she progressed, the better tones of her vocal organ were discovered, and united to an exsequent notice a fuller opinion of her merits. In action last night she was for the most part very dignified, which, in her character as Queen, can by no means be called stiffness. It was rather a judicious presentation of such a character." The following refers to her second appearence in the same city; " Miss Montague, who appeared for the second time showed that she possesses the elements of an artist, With a little more courage, or perhaps we should say with a harder effort to overcome a too modest diffidence, she would strongly assert her claims to a strict of a child, asserding to the custom of the large is between M and 50 years. There will be seen neighborhood another vine and to mother vine the manuscript of the technical parts of her singing, and her voice always fall most agreeably upon the sir as of a sweet, pure and mellow quality. Last night the limits of her score brought her voice below a range where most separate laws to free most separate laws the greatest effectiveness, and it is unfortunately happened that she was to free quently condemsed to sing to a accompaniment of most sopranos have the greatest effectiveness, and it also unfortunately happened that she was to fre quently condensed to sing to an accompanium to cisaging brass. Female Reform.

MR. EDITOR :- It is said upon the street that the Reformatory School will lose the services of its superintendent at the close of the year, and it may be in order to say a word in regard to increa ing its usefulness as an institution for both sexes. At present boys only are sent to it for reformation and education. Why is it that girls are not sent to this institution? At a venture I answer. For the reason that the management has never been equal to the matter. We have a law to "Mirloute the diseases and evils arising from prostitution, that, so far as is practicable, mitigates the diseases peculiar to the social cancer; but we have never heard of the first attempt made to milligate other evils growing out of prostitution; no effort to reform the poor deluded creatures who come under the provisions of the law. Would it not be well to send the younger victims to an institution where they receive sound advice and training? As it is now, a cirl who violates the provisions of the law referred ciates with older and bardened transgressors. I trust that the Board of Education in selecting a Principal for the Reform School, will bear in mind the girls of the present day, and tender to them the advantages REPORM.
